Compassionate care for over a century

Providence Health Care

Providence Health Care has a long-standing commitment of serving those in need. This tradition began more than 120 years ago when the Sisters of Providence came to Vancouver and opened St. Paul's Hospital, a 25-bed "cottage" on the path to English Bay. Since that time, Providence has become a health and wellness resource for patients and residents from all parts of British Columbia. Currently this includes two acute care hospitals, five residential care homes, an assisted living residence, a rehabilitation centre, seven community dialysis units, a hospice, an addictions clinic and a youth health clinic.

About St. Paul's Foundation

St. Paul's Foundation plays an essential role as a fundraising organization connecting donors with the areas of care which matter to them most, ensuring their greatest need are supported financially. The activities of St. Paul's Foundation are essential to countless programs and services, and the benefits are counted in lives saved and transformed, research breakthroughs, and a healthier community.

Thanks to donor support and the activities of people like you, many patients and residents enjoy the highest quality of care and experience possible. Donors to St. Paul's Foundation contribute millions of dollars annually to treat and care for hundreds of thousands of British Columbians, at all stages of life, from neonatal to palliative care.

Please see our Fast Facts Page for further information.

The new St. Paul's.

We are planning a brand new, world-class hospital and integrated health campus just three kilometres from the current hospital on Burrard Street.

The new St. Paul's represents a unique opportunity to transform health care for our community and the people of BC. It will be a catalyst to drive innovation and excellence. It will fundamentally shift the way health care services are experienced by patients, staff, and the wider community. Perhaps best of all, the new St. Paul's will build on a 125-year history of delivering integrated, patient-centred, compassionate care.

About Third Party Fundraising Events

Who?

Third Party Events are fundraising initiatives which occur independently from St. Paul's Foundation. These events are planned, organized and executed by caring and dedicated individuals and groups from our local communities who want to use their time, energy and personal connections to give back and inspire others to do the same.

What?

Events can range from a simple bake sale or birthday party, to more elaborate events such as a reunion celebration, gala dinner, golf tournament or a music concert. Some organizers choose to collect funds at these events, and others create an online fundraising page to ask friends and family for donations over a set period of time. It's up to you to decide. Our goal is to provide you with the tools and support that you need so that you will be successful in your fundraising endeavour.

Where?

Anywhere that's an appropriate setting for your event. Be sure to get the proper approvals and permissions if using a public space or an outside venue.

When?

Your event can take place any time throughout the year. Seasonal events, such as holiday parties, can be extremely successful. For best results, start your planning as early as possible and spread the word! It might take a few reminders to rally your supporters to give or come out to your event.

Why?

Many event organizers have experienced exemplary and compassionate care themselves, or supported a loved one through their health care journey. Usually there is a compelling story behind every decision to give back. We encourage you to tell that story if you can, as it's a great way to inspire others and emphasize the impact that a donation can make.

The funds you raise can be directed to our area of greatest need, or they can be designated to a priority area of your choice. Please ask us for assistance if you wish to direct the money you raise.
